In his youth Hal Moloney was a gun rally driver. He first had a crack at a round Australia event in the 1964 Ampol trial driving an Anglia 105E that 'broke in half'.

Then there were Falcons and a Colt 1100 SS. Later he purchased a demo Leyland P76 from the factory in Zetland and ran it in the 1979 Repco Trial, finishing a creditable 39th. For the 1995 Mobil 1 he borrowed his wife's Targa Florio P76 and finished 17th outright.

Hal continues to compete in Targa Tasmania's and still owns several P76s, including the Targa Florio in rally trim and in beautiful condition. (To state the obvious, Hal Moloney is not an advocate of the argument that the Leyland P76 was a lemon.)

Hal Moloney has the reputation as the pre-eminent historian of rallying in this country, in the same league to rallying as the late Graham Howard was to circuit motor racing. No one who loves the 'cult of the flying topsoil'- the term Bill Tuckey's alter ego, Romsey Quints, coined to describe rallying- can afford to miss this upcoming afternoon in Hal's company.
